This patent information is given to buyers in our product marketing and is printed on all items manufactured after July 2023. Once the patent is fully registered by USPTO, we will vigorously pursue protection of our product through legal action against sellers of imitation product, whether they claim it to be ChillinWell product or not.

We get that imitation is the highest form of flattery. However, we must protect our great Guitar Pick Grips product that we brought to market as a huge improvement over stick on pick grips that were around before us. We must keep buyers from receiving something they think is the same, but isn't.

Our grips were originally sold as brand name LivinWell as early as October, 2021. Other products look similar, but they all were introduced well after this. In fact, almost all came into existence in the second half of 2023 when counterfeiters started to become a big problem for us.
