

Costway.com, Inc.

Costway.com, Inc. (and its trademarked brands Costway.com® and Costway®, collectively “Costway”) is a leading manufacturer, distributor, and seller of an extensive collection of consumer goods, including but not limited to furniture, weight training equipment, treadmills, sports equipment, tools, luggage, games, cooking/kitchen goods, and more. Costway owns an array of intellectual property, including trademarks and copyrights, and is a member of eBay’s Verified Rights Owner (VeRO) Program.

Costway regularly monitors listings on eBay to identify potential infringement of the brand’s intellectual property. Any party that copies, distributes copies of, or displays copies of Costway’s copyrighted materials, including images used in Costway’s product listings, is liable for copyright infringement. If such infringing material is found by Costway’s and/or is brought to Costway’s attention, Costway will take appropriate action.

Information related to trademarks owned by Costway can be found at least by searching the United States Patent and Trademark (USPTO) Assignment Search system, the Trademark Electronic Search System (TESS), and/or USPTO.gov.

Costway intends to protect its intellectual property to the full extent of the law.