

DressThatMan.com

DressThatMan.com Incorporated, DressThatMan.com, Inc. ("DTM") is a member of eBay's VeRO program. DTM is the exclusive owner or licensee of trademarks and services marks, including the DressThatMan.com name and logo (collectively, the "DTM Marks") and related copyrights associated with images of mens vintage apparel and consumer products.

DressThatMan.com Incorporated vigilantly protects its intellectual property and will not tolerate any infringement of its rights in regard to copyrighted photographs and text taken from the website, including the use of the DressThatMan.com name and links to any page on our website. DressThatMan.com Incorporated regularly monitors the Internet, including auction sites, in order to protect its intellectual property rights. DTM notifies eBay of auction listings containing unauthorized uses of DTM's copyrighted images, trademarks and text in auction listings - including our name. eBay then takes the necessary action to comply with its user policies, which include removing the auction from the eBay website.

Frequently Asked Questions (FAQ)

Q: Why was my auction terminated? A: Most likely, your auction was removed from the eBay website because it displayed unauthorized reproductions of copyrighted images owned by DressThatMan.com Incorporated or, text including product descriptions taken from the DTM site, or the unauthorized use of any of DTM trademarks - including our name and/or links to the DressThatMan.com website.

Q: What if I did not realize that I was infringing DressThatMan.com's intellectual property rights? A: Innocent intent does not negate liability under United States copyright or trademark laws. You have a responsibility to ensure that your actions do not violate someone else's intellectual property rights. Before commencing an eBay auction, you must take affirmative steps to ensure that your auction does not violate the rights of any copyright or trademark owner. "Found" images on the internet via search engine image search or, other means, does not mean they are not copyrighted works that are free to use.

Q: Can I copy an image from the DressThatMan.com website and use it in my auction? A: No. Any unauthorized reproduction, display or distribution of DressThatMan.com Incorporated copyrighted images on the website is illegal. You are prohibited using these collective copyrighted works owned by DressThatMan.com in any shape or form. This prohibited use includes reproducing, publishing, distributing, displaying, modifying or creating derivative works from, or from the exploitation, in whole or part, by utilizing any of the creative works displayed or connected to DressThatMan.com Incorporated, including images and or written text, whether it is for profit or not.

Q: Why didn't DressThatMan.com Incorporated contact me directly before reporting my auction to eBay? A: There are times when we do, but... for reasons of speed and efficiency, it is impractical to contact each seller individually. In order to maintain its reputation and name, DressThatMan.com, Inc. must work diligently and speedily to protect its reputation for providing the highest quality mens vintage products, and to stop the use of copyrighted images, text and trademarks.

DressThatMan.com