

Emergent BioSolutions / NARCAN

Emergent BioSolutions, Inc. (Emergent) is a specialty biopharmaceutical company that was established over 25 years ago with a mission to protect and enhance life. Emergent develops, manufactures and delivers specialty products for civilian and military populations that address intentional and naturally emerging public health threats through innovative vaccines and therapeutics.

For many years, Emergent has, by itself and through its subsidiary Emergent Operations Ireland Limited and various predecessors, used the trademark NARCAN in connection with medical preparations and various medical and healthcare services. In particular, Emergent has used and continues to use the NARCAN trademark in connection with its NARCAN® Nasal Spray, which was a first-of-its-kind among other and older formulations of naloxone due to its design and administration. The NARCAN trademark has a long history, as it has been used since the 1960s to identify the source of certain narcotic antagonists.

Emergent owns federal trademark registrations for the NARCAN trademark in various jurisdictions around the globe for its exclusive use in connection with medical preparations and related medical services. Emergent and its licensees have the exclusive right to use the NARCAN trademark.

Emergent is a member of eBay's VeRO program.
