

Envirotainer[®]

The Active Cold Chain

Envirotainer AB is the global market leader and the largest provider of temperature-controlled air freight solutions for pharmaceuticals. It has since 1985 developed, manufactured and offered leasing of FAA/EASA certified containers as well as innovative tools and services for validation, planning, shipping, and follow-up of pharma products that require a controlled environment during the transport.

Envirotainer ships around 2 million doses of medicines per day for all major pharmaceutical manufacturers and covers more than 2,000 pharma trade lanes in over 100 countries and 300 airports. For more information, please visit www.envirotainer.com.

Envirotainer owns valuable intellectual property rights such as trademarks, designs and patents. For example the trademark ENVIROTAINER registered in many countries throughout the world. Product pictures and photographs of Envirotainer containers are also the exclusive property of Envirotainer AB. Any unauthorized use constitutes infringement.

It is an offence under applicable civil and criminal law for an unauthorised reproduction or application of a registered trademark. For example, adding the trademark Envirotainer to an item makes the item counterfeit and also infringes on Envirotainer AB's rights in relation to its trademark.

Envirotainer does not ever sell new or used containers or any spare parts. The mere fact that an Envirotainer container is for sale means that it is a counterfeit. The containers are carefully maintained and monitored as they, when used on an airplane, form part of the aircraft. A counterfeit without the necessary technical approvals, means that it might not be airworthy, and that it can be severe consequences in regard of the aircraft as well as of the goods transported.

Envirotainer is a member of eBay's VeRO program and regularly monitors auctions. Auctions offering counterfeit or otherwise infringing products will be stopped.

Any questions regarding authenticity or trademark infringement should be directed to marketing@envirotainer.com