As the rightful owner of various trademarks, copyrights, and patents, we actively enforce our rights to protect the integrity of our brand, our customers, and our authorized distribution channels. Our intellectual property includes, but is not limited to, registered and unregistered trademarks, proprietary product designs, marketing materials, images, videos, and written content. Unauthorized use of our intellectual property, including the sale of counterfeit or unauthorized products, reproduction of copyrighted images or videos, misleading product descriptions, or false claims of affiliation with Outland Living, is strictly prohibited. Any listing that infringes on our rights will be reported and may be removed in accordance with eBay's Verified Rights Owner (VeRO) Program.

Outland Living does not authorize third parties to use our copyrighted content, including product images, descriptions, and promotional materials, without express written permission. Additionally, we do not permit the sale of counterfeit goods, unauthorized reproductions, or items that infringe upon our patents. Sellers who attempt to list such items will be subject to enforcement actions, including removal of listings and potential further legal action.
