

VeRO Program Participation

Biospace, Inc., together with its parent company InBody Co., Ltd., and various sister companies around the globe, are recognized leaders in the design, manufacturing, sale, and development within the growing body composition analysis market. Over the past 20 years and more, the InBody brand has expanded significantly and expended considerable resources to develop and maintain its reputation for research and medical-grade body composition analysis products, amongst other health and wellness products and services.

Unauthorized Use of InBody-brand Intellectual Property

Biospace, Inc., as the InBody brand's North American representative, is a member of eBay's VeRO program and together with the global InBody collective owns a variety of trademarks, patents, and registered copyrights worldwide. As part of our participation in the VeRO program, any items listed on eBay utilizing or referencing InBody intellectual property, including within text, logos, photos, or in any other manner, in any manner that may mislead or misrepresent to eBay users the true nature/ownership of said intellectual property will be reported by the request of Biospace, Inc.

To reiterate, Biospace, Inc. does not allow any unauthorized or unapproved use of InBody trademarks, logos, text, photos, images, packaging, actual products, or any other element related to InBody intellectual property, or components thereof. Use of trademarked, copyrighted, or patented materials significantly damages InBody's reputation and will be prosecuted to the fullest extent available.

Monitoring

In order to safeguard our intellectual property, as well as protect our valuable customers from those merchants misrepresenting themselves as InBody representatives, Biospace, Inc., together with its various sister companies, shall actively monitor eBay sites to identify any infringing or illegal auctions, merchants, and activity, and will report any unauthorized use of InBody-brand intellectual property to the proper authorities, including eBay's VeRO program.

Your Responsibility

eBay merchants have the responsibility to ensure that their actions do not violate the intellectual property rights of others, including Biospace, Inc. and the rest of the InBody brand. Ignorance regarding the violation of intellectual property rights of any kind is no excuse. Furthermore, the fact that others may be selling products which infringe on our intellectual property rights does not provide you, or any other unauthorized merchant, the right to do so. Similarly, the fact that a product represented as an InBody product is sold on eBay is in no way a guarantee that it is a genuine, authorized InBody product. As such, please use discretion.

If you have any questions or comments regarding InBody's participation in eBay's VeRO program or wish to contact InBody regarding possible infringement, please contact us at Legal@inbody.com, or mail us at InBody USA, Attn: Legal, 13850 Cerritos Corporate Drive, Unit C, Cerritos, CA 90703.