

ONEKA GROUP

Thank you for taking time to visit our page about our intellectual property. We sell a variety of Mobile Phone Accessories & many other goods which we have designed and created in house & hold the copy right for all these works.

By Law we are protected from anyone:

- Using unauthorized copies of our media & text.
- Distributing copies of our work intellectual property whether free of charge or for sale.
- Renting or lending our work.
- Making an adaption to any of our work.

We regularly monitor the use of our intellectual property on eBay to protect our rights & interests.

A representative from the UK government's intellectual property office has advised us in creating a robust portfolio of evidence for all of our product's demonstrating our ownership of these rights. eBay has granted us the status of Verified Rights Owner & we are proud to join other creative business on the Vero Programme on eBay.

We believe in the value of intellectual property & will rigorously defend our rights, intellectual property theft is a crime & we may choose to report the matter to the POLICE. Any listings which infringe on our copyright's whether intentionally or unintentionally will be reported to eBay at our request, we also reserve the right to pursue the offender for damages.

We reserve the right to our copyrights/design rights which are enforceable worldwide. We do have contractual licensing agreements with carefully selected business & individuals, if you wish to find out about licensing our intellectual Property, please contact us directly.
