

Pax Labs

Don't be fooled by fakes

Pax Labs is aware of counterfeit Pax devices in the marketplace. To avoid purchasing a counterfeit device, we always recommend purchasing through an authorized vendor.

Since they are not constructed with the same quality materials as authentic Pax, counterfeit units present a number of serious health and safety risks. Pax Labs has a dedicated team working with law enforcement agencies to stop the distribution and manufacturing of our trademarked products.

Be certain you are purchasing an authentic Pax — the phonies are no substitute!

What we do to protect PAX buyers/sellers on eBay

Our company monitors eBay regularly and contacts sellers to ensure that they are not inadvertently selling counterfeit PAX devices. Through eBay's VeRO program, we contact sellers' postings mostly due to counterfeit and trademark infringement issues. We highly appreciate your cooperation when you are requested to provide any additional information by our online eBay monitoring team. If we do not receive a response and/or receive the requested information, we flag your posting for removal.

Purchasing on www.paxvapor.com directly or from an authorized PAX Labs retailer is the only way to ensure you are not purchasing a counterfeit product. PAX Labs' industry-leading limited warranty comes with every purchase on www.paxvapor.com or through an authorized retailer. Please visit www.paxvapor.com for more information on limited warranty of PAX products.

While PAX Labs would like to help the victims of counterfeiting we're not able to reimburse money used to purchase infringing goods since such goods were not bought from PAX Labs, nor do we assist with the resolution of disputes, including assistance with PayPal or credit card refunds.

If you are unsure if you are purchasing from an authorized retailer, we encourage you to contact our friendly and knowledgeable support team with the company name or link to the site before making the purchase. We will be happy to confirm the authenticity of the product.
