Provo Craft is a member of the eBay VeRO program and is committed to investigating copyright infringement and licensing infractions, not only to protect our own interests, but to protect the interests of the artists we contract with and to ensure that our customers receive only the highest in quality products. We are contractually obligated to protect the intellectual property rights and livelihood of the artists whose work we license. As such, we must enforce our licensing conditions rigorously. The following is a non-exhaustive list of reasons why Provo Craft requests the removal of auctions through eBay’s VeRO program due to an unauthorized use of intellectual property:*

1. The auction offers for sale an item in violation of a license (i.e. End User License Agreement “EULA). Please note: You may not sell or transfer a GYPSY™ machine that contains cartridges loaded onto it while retaining physical possession of the cartridges, or vice versa. Please see GYSPY™ EULA and CRICUT® Cartridge EULA reproduced in pertinent part below.

2. The auction uses copyrighted images (displayed or linked), such as from the Provo Craft, CRICUT®, GYPSY™, YUDU® or PCCrafters websites, product catalogs, promotional material, other text or any other content belonging to Provo Craft.

3. The auction for a non Provo Craft® brand product or homemade/hand-crafted items contains in its title any of Provo Craft’s trademarks. Provo Craft’s trademarks include CRICUT®, GYPSY™, YUDU®, etc.

4. The use of any of Provo Craft’s trademarks in an auction title for homemade/hand-crafted items even if made with Provo Craft brand products

5. The above is in no way an exhaustive list of rules, but simply, as stated, a quick summary. For a more detailed expression of the rights of and restrictions on users of Provo Craft products please refer to the CRICUT® cartridge EULA, GYSPY™ EULA, and the Provo Craft website at www.provocraft.com.

If you want to report an infringing listing that has not been suspended, please send us the title, item number and seller’s name to Copyright@ProvoCraft.com.
