

DEDUCTING THE RIGHT WAY®

We offer small business owners and individual taxpayers a variety of goods and services under the accounting, tax, and financial categories.

Registered Trademark

Deducting The Right Way® is a registered trademark.

United States Patent and Trademark Office (USPTO); Registration no. 5696612
The Florida Department of State; Registration no. T18000000935

Copyright

Deducting The Right Way has exclusive rights as an author in its literary works and online content, which are protected by the Copyright Act of 1976, Digital Millennium Copyright Act, and other statutes. You may find a full list of books at www.deductingtherightway.com/books.

Intellectual Property Violations

You cannot use the registered service mark or brand name in a way that confuses our goods and services with yours, regardless of it being authentic or counterfeit products. Further, you cannot use our copyrighted materials, such as the words on our website(s), books, or other proprietary assets.

▶ Without our written permission or a licensing/distribution agreement, your online listings must not contain our intellectual property or its components, including brand names, stock images, product descriptions, logos, product titles, ISBN, or UPC.

Exception for the use of our product title/ISBN/UPC: You have an authentic item and are re-selling it.

We must take action whenever we discover unauthorized or confusing use of our intellectual property. WE WILL REPORT VIOLATIONS OF OUR PROPERTY RIGHTS TO THE ONLINE PLATFORM DISPLAYING THE INFRINGING LISTING. You could experience a listing removal, suspended account, or similar consequences.

FAQs

Can I use your trademark/brand name with my goods or services?

If a reasonably prudent consumer believes your goods or services are part of our company's offerings, then you cannot use our trademark or copyrighted material. It's illegal to pretend to have an affiliation with us or act as an imposter.