

Organo Gold

Organo Gold Group's trade names, trademarks and service marks are important and valuable business assets. They help identify the source and the reputation of our products and services worldwide and distinguish them from those of competitors. Therefore, Organo Gold Group makes every effort to protect its trademarks, its corporate logotype, label designs and various product names to ensure that others do not misuse them. The use of the Organo Gold name (in any fashion) in reference to any item that is not an OG product is misleading and an infringement of the Organo Gold's property rights described above. The Organo Gold's printed materials are copyrighted and may not be reproduced in whole or in part by Independent Distributors or any other persons, except by those with written permission from Organo Gold Group.
